London Has Five Air Raid Alarms In Day As Nazis Attack With 600 Planes

By JANE VOILES

One of the most fertile sources for writers of fact or fiction is the Spanish period of our history. We are happy to report that a number of books on General Vallejo are being written. There is Helen Giffen's "Life of General Vallejo" appearing serially in The Pony Express Courier; Harry D. Hubbard's book, "Vallejo," is due for publication and we have just heard about McKittick's "Son of California," which is about Vallejo and his times.

When you visit the Vallejo home "Lachryma Montis," you would rather dash up to the door gaily on horseback or arrive with dignity in a carriage instead of tumbling out of an ordinary car. The place calls for ceremony or for joyous gusto. The general who scorned an adobe preferred a wooden house with ornate wooden lace trimmings and windows with Gothic points. To see the place in midsummer radiance is to see it at its best. The long avenue of fig trees is gone but the orange trees give color and fragrance. Warm scents of camphor, mint and jasmine mingle in the air. The restoration of the grounds is not yet complete. The side fountain is dry and El Delirio, the little house of refuge that the general built for himself when family and friends became too importunate, is in ruins. Curiously enough this contrast of ruin and restoration brings the past back with a strange vividness.

In the Swiss Chalet which is now a museum, the capable sweet-faced Miss Barber presides. The center of the room is taken up by the old table around which sat Sutter, Gen. Grant, Sheridan, Farragut, James Fair—who came to borrow $50,000 (and got it) and all the prominent men of that day for Lachryma Montis was the center of social activity. Many of the old dishes from which the family ate are here; including custard cups with quaint covers and pieces of red Bohemian glass. In a case you will see the general's epaulettes, in another the China doll with which a little daughter played, and still another a picture of the Christ child that Junipero Serra himself gave to Vallejo. Dresses, books, portraits, all the details of everyday living make the past live for you. Miss Barber may tell you that the General's bathtub is in the upper part of the building.

The room house which is still the home of Vallejo's only living child, Louisa Emperan, keeps its atmosphere of hospitality. In every room you will see a white marble fireplace. In some of the rooms you will see the old chest of drawers which held gold in quantity for the needy guest.

We saw in a store room the little traveling chest that accompanied the general when he went south to fetch his bride, Benicia Carillo. The old staidway with its gracious curve is eloquent with stories. Senora Emperan will tell you how she saw six of her sisters descend that staircase as brides.

In time to come it is probable that this same Louisa Emperan will be the heroine of biographies and novels. Hers has been a rich life made so by circumstances and on its own merits. She is bedridden, in her eighties yet her black hair retains its thickness, her dark eyes keep their laughter. It is in the timbre of her voice that you recognize the woman whose nature had largesse and power. On the afternoons when she sits at her best she may sing a few bars of "Estrellita," or "Little Maggie May" in a voice that is still strangely sweet. She may offer her guests golden Sherry made by the Christian Brothers in a nearby valley and reply to the toasts with flashes of her old wit. It is said that her kinsman, Leo Carillo, calls on her and brings himself laden with champagne and roses in the spirit of Spanish prodigality.

Today Luisa Emperan is the only link with the present and the golden age of the past. In her words and in the vestiges of the life about her you can glimpse that special sunlight of the dawn of California. What a magnificent subject

ADMISSION DAY IS THEME IN 3-DAY FETE

Placerville Native Sons Share Prominently In Program At Sacramento

The observance of the ninetieth anniversary of California's statehood on September 9th will be carried out in a series of special events at Sacramento during the weekend in which Native Sons and Native Daughters of El Dorado County are preparing to share.

El Dorado County's part in the observance is, perhaps, more prominent this year since District Attorney Henry S. Lyon is the grand president of the Native Sons of the Golden West, and the county also has a grand officer in the Native Daughters, Mrs. Nora Gray being grand inside sentinel.

The Grand President will preside at a meeting of the grand officers of the order at Sacramento Saturday afternoon and will officiate Sunday morning at 11 o'clock at the planting of the pioneer memorial grove of trees at the state fair grounds. On Monday, the mammoth Admission Day parade will be held in the Sacramento business district at 10:30 o'clock and Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock Mr. Lyon will speak over the radio from the fair grounds on the subject, "Admission Day and the Native Sons."

In the preparations for the parade Monday, Mrs. Nettie Leonard, of El Dorado Parlor of Native Daughters, is an aide to the grand marshal, and a similar distinction is held by Sheriff George M. Smith, of the Placerville Parlor of Native Sons.

The committee on participation in the parade by Placerville Parlor has Sheriff Smith as chairman, with Guy E. Wentworth, T. P. Lewis, A. J. Orelli and Mr. Lyon.

Arrangements have been made to transport uniforms for the parlor to Sacramento, where they will be available for members of the parlor at Hotel Senator. Change room facilities will be available and all members of the parlor are being asked to meet at the hotel for their uniforms.

Placerville Parlor will be in the third division of the parade and Placerville Parlor Committee has obtained the Preston School Band, of Ione, to lead the third division. Amador County Parlor has been invited to march in this division, and the section also will include the stage coach of Placerville Parlor, drawn by a spanking team.

The third division of the Admission Day parade will form at Twelfth and N Streets facing east on N Street at ten o'clock Monday morning and will be prepared to step off at 10:30 o'clock to take its

State Fair To Close Monday

Total Attendance To Date, 453,720; May Set New High Mark

SACRAMENTO, (UP)—Residents of northern counties converged on Sacramento today for special celebrations at the California State Fair as the annual show moved into the eighth day of an 11-day run. The fair closes Monday.

With attendance for seven days tabulated, fair officials said the total continued to run ahead of the best previous mark. Yesterday's crowd of 63,440 brought a total of 453,720 compared to 449,891 in 1938, the former record.

A forecast for fair weather and rising temperatures brought predictions for new attendance records over the coming weekend. Cold and traces of rain have discouraged crowds in the past two days.

A night show with Orin Tucker's band and Vocalist Bonnie Baker will play a concluding engagement tonight. Kay Kyser's band will appear Saturday and Sunday, with Phil Harris playing Monday.

NEW PRESIDENT of the Tri-County Federation is Mrs. R. A. Sinclair, of Placerville, who was elected to the post Thursday at a board meeting at Tahoe City, succeeding Mrs. B. E. Haslam, who has resigned owing to removal to Berkeley.

MRS. SINCLAIR CLUB LEADER

Succeeds Mrs. Haslam As Federation President At Meeting On Thursday

Mrs. R. A. Sinclair, immediate past president of the Placerville Shakespeare Club was chosen president of the Tri-County Women's Club Federation on Thursday, succeeding Mrs. B. E. Haslam, of Pilot Hill.

The election took place at a card party meeting of the Tri-County Federation board, held Thursday afternoon at Tahoe City and was made necessary by Mrs. Haslam's resignation owing to removal to Berkeley.

Among those who attended the meeting representing the Placerville Shakespeare Club were the president, Mrs. Don M. Hoffman, and Mrs. Sinclair, Mrs. Harriett Amstaden and Mrs. Charles E. Hand.

Mrs. Delbert Niel, of the Cool Study Club, will continue as the tri-county secretary.

The travel section of the Shakespeare Club will meet regularly at the clubhouse on Tuesday afternoon, September 10, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Caroline Simon, "South America" is the subject for the day.

PAIR REVEAL MARRIAGE IN TELEGRAM TO "THE BOSS"

The management at the Diamond Match Company is in receipt of a message from their employee, Jack Whisler, bookkeeper, who is on a three-weeks vacation, telling of his marriage to Lucille Ebbert, last Sunday at Reno, Nev. The young couple left here early Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Whisler will spend their honeymoon in the middle west, visiting for a few days at Soldier, Kansas, the former home of the bridegroom, before returning to this city to make their home.

Mrs. Ebbert is a county girl, having attended school here and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August Ebbert of the Newtown section. The bridegroom has been employed by the local office of the Diamond Match Company for the past year. During his absence William Larr of Roseville is here to take his place in the office.

The Eagles Auxiliary announces that its schedule of card parties for the fall and winter months has been changed and that the series will open on Friday evening, September 27th, continuing thereafter on the fourth Friday evening of each month.

Mrs. Mae Buyer is in Los Angeles this week doing some buying of fall and winter merchandise for the May-Den Store.

F. R. PRESSES FOR DRAFT APPROVAL

Action Of House Would Delay Conscription And Seek Volunteer Recruits

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Roosevelt today put additional pressure on congress for quick passage of the pending conscription law, saying that the draft is essential to U. S. defense plans.

His remarks were made at a press conference following yesterday's action of the house in voting to delay conscription for 60 days to permit a nation-wide drive for volunteers. Supporters of the original bill conceded there was little chance that the action would be reversed. But they insisted—and even opponents agreed—that the measure designed to select men aged from 21 to 45 for military service would pass.

The house approved the amendment, sponsored by Rep. Hamilton Fish, R., N. Y., by a teller vote of 185 to 155. It acted in committee of the whole, under the usual house parliamentary procedure.

The amendment was still subject to ratification by the house, but leaders disapproved of it on a roll call and were not sure they would try.

The amendment would postpone the draft for two months—just long enough, some members commented, for it to fall after the November election—in order to give a trial to voluntary enlistments as a means of building the army up to a strength of 1,200,000 men.

President Roosevelt would be authorized to appeal for volunteers from 18 to 35 to serve for one year. If that appeal failed to call 400,000 men to the colors within the 60 days, the draft would then be invoked.

Rites Saturday For Pioneer

Mrs. Ella C. Vennewitz Was Native Of Aukum; Life-Long County Resident

Last rites for Mrs. Ella C. Vennewitz, who passed away early Thursday, will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from Memory Chapel under the auspices of Leona Rebekah Lodge, of this city. Rev. Harold Morehouse will officiate. Interment will be at Union cemetery.

Eighty-one years of age, Mrs. Vennewitz was a native of the Aukum district and had lived her life in El Dorado County. Her father had homesteaded in that district and was engaged in farming and in mining.

Upon her marriage to Herman N. Vennewitz, the couple established their home in the Aukum district and resided there until their retirement in 1922, when they moved to Placerville. Mr. Vennewitz passed away in 1925 and following his death, Mrs. Vennewitz moved to Sacramento for a short period, later returning to Placerville.

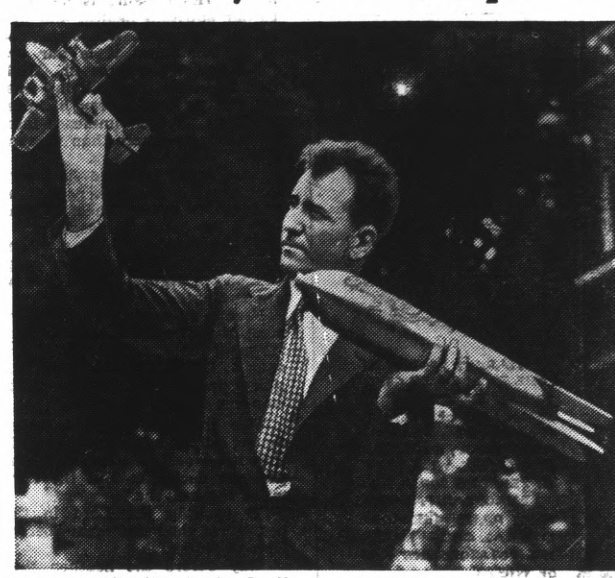

She was a member of the Rebekah Lodge in Oleta, since disbanded, and subsequently transferred her membership to Leona Rebekah Lodge in Placerville, being a past noble grand of the order.

Five sons, Carl, Rudolph, Ellis, Phil and Ed Vennewitz, survive her.

Daisy Wylie has brought suit for divorce from Verner Wylie alleging cruelty. The complaint says the pair wed at Sacramento, March 25, 1929, and separated November 1, last. They have three children and community property consisting of a car and one-fifth interest in a gold mine. Plaintiff asks the care and custody of the children and an award for their support.

William J. Mitchell was brought down from Lake Valley on Thursday afternoon by Constable Fred Brenzel and lodged in the county jail pending investigation of thefts.

Rocket May Doom Warplanes

J. Robert Fish, Springfield, Mass., inventor, displays for the first time a model of his anti-aircraft rocket, which may revolutionize warfare. Preliminary tests indicate the magnetic rocket, attracted by sound waves, will streak after a plane at 900 m.p.h. and blow it up. The United States Army has shown interest.

MRS. FAUGSTED COOKIE CHAMP

Placerville Housewife Wins Plaque And Cash Award At State Fair

Mrs. George E. Faugsted, of Placerville, is the cookie baking champion of the State Fair at Sacramento.

Her entry was selected the best and, dubbed "the Governor's cookie jar," was to be presented to the Governor late Thursday afternoon as one of the features of Governor's Day at the state fair.

On the more practical side, the distinction won a cash award of $15 for Mrs. Faugsted, and a plaque attesting her ability as a cookie-maker.

The "Governor's cookie jar" contest was announced three weeks ago, and so Thursday morning Mrs. Faugsted took a three-quart jar and filled it, according to the rules of the contest, with nine varieties of cookies.

There were Danish cookies, Swedish cookies, Dream Bars, date cookies, orange jumbos, oatmeal macaroons, pinwheels, butter scotch and chocolate cut-ups.

Then she took the jar to Sacramento and entered it in the contest, winning first award.

She reports that she was to receive the award personally from

6 GUILTY OF PETTY THEFT

Group Sentenced Thursday To Serve Six Months Each In County Jail

The six young men arrested about two weeks ago at San Francisco in connection with thefts in Lake Valley, pleaded guilty Thursday afternoon before Justice of the Peace Dwight Martin, at Al Tahoe, to charges of petty theft and each was sentenced to serve six months in the county jail.

Sheriff George M. Smith said that the youths were saved from more serious charges in this county when it appeared during the investigation that principal instances of thefts in which they were suspected had taken place in Nevada.

Friday morning the sheriff said that the group appeared to be very well satisfied with the results of their encounter with the law.

The six include George Polasky, William P. Birney, Frank Molinari, Ray Pearman and Ben Olenlager and Carl Hendershot. The last two had been released a week ago and then re-arrested during the week-end.

San Francisco police had jailed the group when they became suspicious of their efforts to dispose of movie cameras and other outing equipment at pawn shops in the bay city.

STATE'S PRIMARY ELECTION LAW HAS PRODUCED SOME PECULIAR SITUATIONS IN ITS TIME; CROSS-FILING PERPLEXES

By JOHN W. DUNLAP

United Press Staff Correspondent

SACRAMENTO, (UP)—California's primary election law, under fire for so many years but particularly since the recent primary election, has produced some peculiar situations in its time.

The provision in the law that a candidate must win his own party nomination is one of the stumbling blocks. Thus, for example, if a registered democrat files on more than one party ticket, he must win the democratic bid. Losing of his own party nomination disqualifies him for the general election, regardless of his standing in the other contests.

This situation occurred in several assembly districts. In Sacramento, center of a bitter "purge" campaign by the governor against his three legislative opponents, democrat Chester Gannon lost that party nomination to John Edward Cain but won the republican bid. Likewise, Gordon Fleury, the other republican candidate, suffered defeat by Gannon so neither was eligible to go on the November ballot for the G. O. P.

In San Bernardino county, where Gordon Corwin retired from the 73rd assembly district, H. George Cimmerman won the democratic nomination but was a registered republican, so Waldo Willhoft, an other republican, won the G. O. P. bid and Cunningham was disqualified.

In the 3rd district, Lloyd W. Lowrey and J. C. Marshall were both democrats. Lowrey was nominated by the democrats and Marshall was disqualified even though he won the republican bid.

The same was true in the 2nd district, where Clint Fulcher, a conservative democrat incumbent, was running a neck and neck race with William Gunlock for the democratic nomination, with the absentee ballots to decide the issue. Fulcher was unopposed on his republican filing but must win both to qualify for the November election.

In situations of this kind, the county central committee of the party not represented on the ballot in November has the option of selecting someone to go on the ballot. This must be done by Oct. 1 and any party member is eligible except anyone defeated in the primary. So in the affected districts, it is likely that both parties will be on the ballot.

Quite a few office holders have been elected after being nominated by the committee in this manner, including Seth Millington, assemblyman from Butte county who fig-

55 INVADING SHIPS SHOT DOWN

Carol Abdicates Throne In Rumania, Flees To Retreat In Switzerland

LONDON, (UP)—The London area had its fifth air raid alarm of the day at 6 p. m.

About 55 German planes were reliably reported to have been shot down today over Great Britain.

Nazis Claim Success

BERLIN, (UP)—Thirty-five British planes were shot down in air battles over the British Isles this morning and although German bombers and fighters attacking military objectives in southern England encountered strong fighter opposition their raids were successful, well informed German quarters said today.

It was claimed that the waves of German attackers smashed through British balloon barrages and fighters and bombed military objectives "with good success."

Raids Reported

MUNICH, Germany, (UP)—British bombers were reliably reported today to have raided Augsburg and Nuremberg—center of Nazis' mass demonstrations—during the night, in addition to making long reconnaissance flights over Munich and nearby areas. Extent of damage was unknown.

600 Nazi Planes

LONDON, (UP)—Adolf Hitler today sent the largest squadrons of airplanes yet seen over Britain's war filled skies to inaugurate what experts thought might be a life or death battle between the Royal Air Force and the German Luftwaffe.

It was estimated that 600 German planes were employed in two large-scale attacks up to mid-day. The planes were said to be aiming at British airdromes, particularly those in Kent all the way up to London's outskirts.

King Carol II abdicated and prepared to leave Rumania today. Carol was ready to flee to Switzerland with his red-haired Jewish Magda Lupescu, and Ernest Urdanetanu. He found himself unable to hold his crown and the ceremonial scepter was given to 18-year-old Crown Prince Michael who will reign as King while all power is concentrated in the hands of the new Rumanian dictator, Gen. Ion Antonescu. Anti-semitic rioting in Bucharest gave a foretaste of the future.

The war in the Mediterranean theater suddenly picked up momentum. Italian bombing planes ranged from Aden in the Red Sea to Port Suez at the northern end of the great canal.

British Blast French Coast

"Heavy Crunches Of Explosions" Felt Across Channel

AT A SOUTHEAST COAST TOWN, England, (UP)—The heaviest British bombardment of the French coast yet seen from the English shores was carried out during the night and this morning with British bombers swarming to attack French coastal ports.

Flashes of exploding bombs and the bursts of anti-aircraft shells were seen stretching from Boulogne to Dunkirk. The heavy crunches of the explosions were felt even in this town. The Germans fired a heavy barrage of anti-aircraft shells and flaming "onions" but despite the magnitude of the German defenses British bombs continued to drop throughout most of the night.

German bombers likewise were active and at least two formations got over the southeast coast in greater numbers than have been seen so far. Most of the planes were hidden by a haze but the noise of their engines was terrific.

NEW "ANDY HARDY" STORY OPENS AT EMPIRE ON SUNDAY

Two songs, one as new as tomorrow and the other a favorite of a generation ago, are sung by Judy Garland in "Andy Hardy Meets Debutante," opening Sunday at the Empire Theatre to close Monday evening.

"I'm Nobody's Baby," hit of the early and Gay Twenties, will bring nostalgic memories of the jazz age to those who were dance addicts in the days just following the war. The new number is "Alone," written by Nacio Herb Brown and Arthur Freed, a song-writing team who have contributed any number of hits to stage and screen.

Marianne Minear lives on the wrong side of the little town of Centerville. Embittered when her high-school sweetheart deserts her for a girl who is well-to-do and socially prominent, she becomes convinced that love is cruel, and money everything, and grimly vows to have money someday. She takes a job and studies advertising. Leonard Bailey is deeply interested in her, but he is poor, and she cannot forget that money is now more important to her than love. Then, both go to New York to take jobs with a Mr. Gleason, a real-estate man. Marianne works hard and finally becomes Gleason's private secretary. One day Leonard takes her into the country to see a site picked for a hospital for crippled orphans for which he is raising money. Marianne knows that Gleason wants the site for an exclusive subdivision and, because she sees the possibility of making a lot of money, warns Leonard that she means to try to beat him to the land. He is angry.

CHAPTER XIV

ON MONDAY morning, as soon as Gleason arrived, Marianne walked into his private office.
"That Woodland Heights land you're interested in—if I could interest Rayson Bland in buying it, and then get him to sign a contract for a restricted sale by us—could I have a percentage of the commission?"
The cigar Gleason was smoking almost fell out of his mouth.
"Could you! My dear girl, if you can close such a deal, one-fourth of what we make on it will be yours. What you got in mind?"
"Nothing much," Marianne answered cryptically. "But with your permission, I want to call on Bland."
"Go to it!" said Gleason.

FOR a week thereafter Marianne made daily visits to the luxurious office of Rayson Bland. The following Monday she telephoned Gleason. "Come on over. Bland is ready to close."
It was after hours when they returned to the office.
"You're tops!" Gleason enthused. "And depend upon it, this will net you not less than thirty thousand."
"Thirty thousand!" gasped Marianne. She couldn't believe her ears. So the words "restricted" and "exclusive," and dealing with the money class did mean something! The sound of a cheery whistle and quick step told Leonard Bailey had entered the outer office.
"Hey, come in here!" Gleason called. "I want to thank you," as Leonard appeared, "for making me hire the shrewdest little lady we've ever had around here. She just closed a deal with Rayson Bland. And now we got Woodland Heights to sell under heavy restrictions. And there's a clause in that contract that Bland will get three of his moneyed friends to buy to get things started!"
Leonard stood perfectly still, his eyes on Marianne's face. "You've actually closed the deal?"
"She did," Gleason crowed. "And she didn't resort to woman's wiles either. Just found out somebody wanted the location for a hospital and sold Bland on the undesirability of such a neighbor and the necessity of restricting the district."

Leonard turned on his heel. "Congratulations," he said over his shoulder as he strode from the room.
Gleason frowned. "What's the matter with him? Of course, he never enthuses over any deal, but I thought, since this was yours, he'd feel different."
Marianne didn't answer. The way Leonard had looked! As though someone had struck him in the face. She was suddenly stricken with remorse. All the pride of her shrewdness had turned to ashes.
WHEN she reached her rooming house, she found a slip of paper with a telephone number to call.
A deep voice answered: "Yes, I left a call for you. I'm trying to reach Leonard Bailey. I thought you might know. . . . This is Doctor Lawson."
"He isn't here," Marianne replied, "but if he telephones or comes I'll be glad to give him a message."
"It's bad news," the doctor said. "We've lost a location we'd picked for a children's hospital. Tell him not to take the thing too much to heart. I'm already looking for another place, but we may have to take some place not so ideal."
"I'll tell him," Marianne found herself saying, in a weak voice.
She was still sitting by the telephone when the landlady came into the hall.
"Those apartments on Fifty-third—the ones my brother owns—are ready now. . . ."
"I found an apartment yesterday," Marianne answered. "But thanks for thinking of me."
She didn't explain that she had rented an expensive penthouse and sent for her mother, confident that she was on the way to an income that could afford such things.

SHE went to her room and tried to study. But the lessons seemed too heavy. Perhaps if she went for a walk she'd feel better. But a glance out the window showed a dismal rain. She picked up a magazine, threw it down again. She attempted to darn hose, but the needle trembled in her fingers.
Surely Leonard would telephone. He had telephoned every night since she had been here, unless they were out some place together. At nine she tried to reach him. Later at ten, and finally at eleven. But the answer was the same. "Mr. Bailey isn't in."
Indeed, it would have been difficult to reach the solitary figure tramping the streets, oblivious to the autumn drizzle or the lateness of the hour. The vision of a girl her beauty marred by greed, went with him. A girl he wanted to hate—but couldn't.
He loved that girl. Much as he wanted to, he couldn't hate her. But he must cut loose from her. She had wrecked his hopes and ambitions—hurt him terribly. From now on, their paths must be in different directions.

Inviting Others to Worship God

HIGHLIGHTS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Sept. 8 is Psalms 67, 96 and 98, the Golden Text being Psalm 34:3, "O magnify Jehovah with me, and let us exalt His name together.")

"GOD BE merciful to us, and bless us; and cause His face to shine upon us," is the beginning of Psalm 67, which is the first part of our lesson today. It continues: "That Thy way may be known upon earth. Thy saving health among all nations."
We need God's mercy and His blessing to make us happy in this life. We do not always do what is right and so we need His mercy. His blessing is necessary to our spiritual health, and even to our physical well-being, because sometimes it is our own fault that we become ill. Right thinking and right living may not always save us from sickness, but they have an immense influence over us—more than we realize.

The rest of Psalm 67 is a song of praise to our Maker. "Let all the people praise Thee, O God; let all the people praise Thee. 'O let the nations be glad and sing for joy; for Thou shalt judge the people righteously, and govern the nations upon earth.'"

Psalms 96 and 98 continue the song of praise, both commencing: "O sing unto the Lord a new song." Psalm 96 declares His glory among the heathen, His wonders among all people.

"For the Lord is to be feared among all gods." All other gods that are worshiped are idols, the psalmist declares. "But the Lord made the heavens."
"O worship the Lord in the beauty of holiness: fear before Him all the earth."

"Say before the heathen that the Lord reigneth: the world also shall be established that it shall not be moved: He shall judge the people righteously."

Faith Needed

In the turmoil of the present world, when nation makes war on nation and no one seems safe, we are inclined to think that the truths in which we used to believe—kindness, mercy, justice, honor—are all going to be swept away—in fact, largely gone. But it is not so. Truth and justice will prevail in the end. Brute force cannot win eventually. The Lord reigneth and shall judge the people righteously. We must have faith and it will come about.

Therefore—
"Let the heavens rejoice, and let the earth be glad; let the sea roar, and the fullness thereof."
"Let the field be joyful, and all that is therein: then shall all the trees of the wood rejoice."
In the 98th Psalm we are told to "make a joyful noise unto the Lord."

"Sing unto the Lord with the harp; with the harp, and the voice of the psalm."
"With trumpets and sound of cornet make a joyful noise before the Lord, the King."

In this psalm it is said that the Hebrew word "trumpet" is used for the only time in the book of psalms. Trumpets were usually used only by the priests, especially in the early periods of Jewish history. Later they seem to have been used also by the Levites and even by the people, also cornets, also mentioned in this psalm. They were used principally at the proclamation and coronation of kings.

It is thought that these psalms were written later than the time of David, but we have not sufficient data for determining just when they were written. They were used, for the most part, in the choral singing in the temple.

Many people in the world today are fearful of what is to come. We cannot know what is in store for us. We can, however, keep our minds open to truth; we can practice those virtues which seem so lacking in every part of the world. We can be loving, kind to all, doing what we can to alleviate suffering and to treat all men as brothers. And for our good, and that of a suffering world let us "Sing unto the Lord a new song." Let us put behind us our worries and fears, our hatreds and strifes, and have faith that as it has been in the past, right will triumph and the wicked shall be put down. For "Jehovah cometh to judge the earth: He will judge the world with righteousness, and the peoples with His truth."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICE

First Church of Christ, Scientist, Placerville, Bedford Avenue at Union Street.

SerVICES, 11 a. m. Sunday School 9:30 a. m. Wednesday evening. Testimonial Meeting 8 p. m.

The reading room at the church building is open Tuesday and Friday from 2 o'clock until 4 o'clock. "The spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God; and if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ." These words from Romans comprise the Golden Text to be used Sunday, September 8, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be "Man." Included among the Scriptural selections will be: "Thou hast dealt well with thy servant, O Lord, according unto thy word. . . . Thy hands have made me and fashioned me: give me understanding, that I may learn thy commandments" (Psalms 119; 65, 73).

The following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included: "In Science man is the offspring of Spirit. The beautiful, good, and pure constitute his ancestry. His origin is not, like that of mortals, in brute instinct, nor does he pass through material conditions prior to reaching intelligence. Spirit is his primitive and ultimate source of being; God is his Father."

Buick For '41 Shown By Frey's Service Garage

The new 1941 Buick motor cars embodying such advanced features as compound carburetion, new aerodynamic bodies and engines with increased horsepower, are being shown today in the showrooms of Bert Frey, local Buick dealer.

The new Buicks have been completely restyled, with an entire line of bodies on the Series 40 special, Series 60 Century and Series 90 Limited cars, and a new modernistic treatment of radiator grilles, hood and front end.

Among outstanding developments in the new models are the new engines of Buick, which are of the "fireball" design, having dome-shaped pistons and combustion chamber contour that compresses the fuel into the shape of a flattened ball directly around the spark plug, providing maximum combustion efficiency without detonation or ping.

At the same time, compound carburetion, involving the use of two dual carburetors per engine with a resulting step-up in horsepower, yet a marked improvement in fuel economy, has been developed exclusively for the 1941 cars.

In connection with fuel economy, it is claimed that the 165 horsepower Buick engine now gives more miles per gallon at 50 miles per hour than was obtained from last year's 107 horsepower engine, at like speed.

In the new styling, Buick engineers and designers, in cooperation with General Motor stylists, have given broader range and greater utility to the "torpedo" type of body introduced by Buick last year. Unusually wide, the cars are fully streamlined from the graceful hood to the rear of the tapered tail.

The new aerodynamic bodies designed for the Series 40 special and Series 60 cars provide comfortable space for six passengers in addition to adequate luggage space in the streamlined tail. The rear door design has been carried to its most complete detail in the new Sedanet body which is an attractive coupe-sedan of the two-door type, accommodating six passengers.

COLOMA NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Noyes Pratt and Charles Muskovitch of Sacramento were Sunday visitors at Coloma at the home of Miss Nancy Vernon. Mr. Pratt is director of the E. B. Crocker Art Gallery, one of the oldest in America. Mr. Muskovitch, who is an expert restorer of paintings, is engaged in the restoration of the famous old masters of the Crocker collection. In his stay in California he has become enamored of the foothill region and is looking for a site for a summer home.

Ray Hopkins of Richmond is spending his usual week's vacation here. He likes Coloma valley so well he seldom fails to spend a brief visit here each month.

Dr. Lawrence K. Gundrum of Los Angeles spent two days here last week.

Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Mueckler of San Francisco were here over the weekend.

William Rutherford, son of Mrs. George Barr of Marshall Park, accompanied by Mrs. E. Bovell of Santa Cruz, spent the weekend at the park.

Mrs. E. Pierson was in San Francisco several days last week on business and pleasure.

Mrs. Veima Schultz Wally of Oakland spent several days at the Schultz home here this week.

William Stearns is on a three-weeks vacation in Oregon, visiting relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Michelli and daughter Helen of Oakland visited the Rosenberger family over the weekend. On Labor Day they all visited Pardee Dam, Amador county, from whence Oakland gets its supply of water.

Miss Norma Newman of Los Angeles has concluded a two-weeks visit with Helen Gallegher and returned to her home.

Carl Steimer took a few days off his job as caretaker at the Dillman Rohrer summer home and is in San Francisco visiting the fair.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Asher who recently sold their postcard business to the Baker Studio in Placerville, are in Coloma for a short stay. They expect to tour the country in their trailer house for a time.

Miss Helen Gallegher leaves Saturday for Sacramento. She will attend Junior College and take a business course there.

Messrs Rice and Gilmnet have recently leased mining rights on the old McEeth property, now the Henry home, and Mr. Rice has built a cottage for his family there. We understand several groups of miners on the north side of the river are doing well—which is good news.

Mr. and Mrs. Schmeland of Bakersfield are here for a time and occupy a cottage at the Grout camp grounds.

Robert Saunders, his brother and their families, of Pollock Pines, visited here Labor Day.

Mrs. Jack Soule of San Francisco is here visiting her husband.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Papina returned to their winter home in Sacramento Tuesday. Their daughter, Virginia, accompanied them, continuing on to San Francisco where she attends art school.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Hurst of San Francisco concluded a two-weeks visit here on Tuesday and return-

GOOD FOOD INTO GLAMOROUS FOOD

People and food have always seemed a lot alike to me. Some are nice enough and pleasant enough... nothing objectionable and nothing outstanding. Then there are others that challenge our interest and stand out in our memories. They have a subtle quality about them... both the food and the people... that lifts them away above the average pleasant food and people. We say they have glamour.

EASY AS FAR AS FOOD IS CONCERNED

But right here the likeness between people and food ends. For it is exceedingly difficult to make an unglamorous person glamorous, yet it is an easy matter to change merely "good" food into distinctive, glamorous food. Just a little extra care with the seasoning will work wonders. Here are a few suggestions:

BEEFSTEAK

Your steak will fairly radiate personality if you rub it with garlic and sprinkle it ever so lightly with dry mustard just before broiling.

CASSEROLE DISHES

Meat and potato mixtures will taste ever so much better if you'll marinate them first with a little French dressing. You know what it means to marinate... to let stand for an hour or so in a mixture of oil, salt, lemon juice or vinegar (which is French Dressing) to give flavor to the foods. Many of our salad materials are marinated this way.

FOR ALLURING VEGETABLES

A sprinkling of mace with creamed asparagus.
A little onion with creamed spinach.
A teaspoon of sugar added to the green peas while they are cooking.

Green beans with a bit of thyme and chopped chives added to the butter and other seasonings just before serving.

A tablespoon of lemon juice and 2 finely chopped green onions will do a lot for green beans. Use this much seasoning for four servings.

A few split toasted almonds sprinkled over the top add real glamour to your waxed beans.

A little cinnamon to the sour sweet sauce of Harvard beets or a bit of horseradish added to buttered beets gives a subtle quality to the flavor that is delightful.

And I'll have to give the complete recipe for Beets with Orange Sauce. You'll find it an elegant way to serve beets.

BEETS WITH ORANGE SAUCE

Wash and boil 12 medium-sized beets until they are nearly done... about 1/2 hour. Remove the skins and slice. Place in a heavy pan and cover with a mixture of:

2 tbs. flour
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 cup orange juice
2 tbs. butter

Cover the pan and bake for 15 minutes in a moderate oven. 350° F.

If you have any specific cooking problems, send a letter requesting information to Betty Crocker in care of this newspaper. You will receive a prompt, personal reply. Please enclose 3 cent stamp to cover postage.

ed home. The former is connected with the Matson shipping line.

El Everson, justice of the peace of Elk Grove, was here Labor Day visiting old friends. The gentleman lived here several years as a young man, being one of a group who struck a large pocket at the Last Chance Mine in the late '30's.

Walter Hanson, while on his way home last Saturday, rounded the curve just above our school house too quickly and found the front wheels of his car sliding over the edge of the old mining hole there. He hurriedly opened the car door and stepped off into about eight feet of space. At first it was thought his neck was broken but after a time he regained his senses and went on home under his own power with no harm done other than a thorough shaking up.

Tuesday morning Coloma's chief asset, our beautifully-toned school bell, rang out for the beginning of the fall term, with twenty-four pupils and Mrs. Lorena Smith in charge. Under the supervision of Mrs. Alice Grout, clerk of the board of trustees, much work had been done during vacation making needed repairs and cleaning up so that both buildings and yard are in fine order.

Three hundred and ninety visitors registered at the Marshall Park during last week.

GEORGETOWN

School began Tuesday, September 3, with Kemp Van Ee teaching the upper grade room with 27 pupils, and Mrs. Annie Heindel teaching in the lower room with 37 pupils.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Bunker of San Francisco spent the weekend here.

Mrs. Bessie Cheek and daughter, Norma Lee, returned last week from a two-months visit in Oklahoma.

Mrs. Cora McCullough, her son Orrin, and his two children, Jack and Jean, moved to Vallejo last week.

The high school bus, with Ira Cushman driving, started the trips to Placerville Tuesday with about forty pupils. Hereafter there will be two buses — one going the regular route, and one to go by Garden Valley via Coloma, then to Placerville.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon West and family attended the fair at Treasure Island Sunday.

G. G. Devore was over from Reno, Nev., Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Francis, Helen and Elmer Francis, were in Sacramento over the weekend and took in the state fair.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Jerrett are spending a week at Wentworth Springs with Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Jerrett.

Joe Flynn was down from the CCC camp above town Saturday and later proceeded to San Francisco where he attended the fair at Treasure Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Fitzgerald of Vallejo spent the weekend at their summer home below town.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard of San Francisco spent the weekend here at their summer home and were painting and otherwise improving their property.

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Douglas left Saturday for Newcastle where Mrs. Douglas joined her sister, Mrs. Anna Dobbas, and a niece, on a motor trip through Oregon, Washington, and also intended to go on into Canada. Mr. Douglas returned home and we are sure he will be counting the days until his cook is home again.

Bob Bacon took in the state fair at Sacramento Sunday. Bob was in luck — he didn't get his pockets picked.

Mrs. Alex Francis spent the weekend in Sacramento. Her daughter, Miss Hazel, of Oakland, joined her and they were the house guests of Mrs. Lottie Sturman. They were among those attending the state fair Sunday and Monday.

William C. Ganow, who is a commercial flier, starting flying in 1931 and holding a rating as a first lieutenant, left from Oakland last week with fourteen other American pilots to join the Royal Air Force in Canada. The group flew east by plane and from there will go to Montreal to receive their assignments. He recently signed up for a year's contract with Clyde Pangborn, the noted trans-ocean flier. "Bill" is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Ganow of this place. One of the fourteen fliers received his instructions from Mr. Ganow.

Jim Morgan of Georgetown will drive the school bus for the Placer Junior College starting Tuesday, September 3, from Greenwood to Auburn this term and will also attend the college.

Mrs. A. M. Presley and grandson Dicy Clements are spending the week in Sacramento.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Tong and family have moved from the Polkey bungalow to the Joe Morgan house on Church Street.

Bill Baldwin and his family have moved to Aptos, California.

A home run in the eighth inning by Joe Triano, hard-hitting shortstop, gave the Newcastle Fire Department a victory over the Georgetown Miners nine by a score of 9 to 8 in the first contest of a three-game series for the championship of the Foothill League. The game was played at Auburn. The two teams will meet at Newcastle next Sunday in the second game of the series.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Kraul were up from Vallejo over the weekend.

KELSEY

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Womack have gone to Oakland for a visit with relatives.

Eleanor Kelley of the Fidelity Title Insurance Company of Sacramento and Elizabeth Bennett, with the Aviation Field of North Sacramento, were home with their respective families over the holiday weekend.

Miss Helen Bennett who is attending the Los Angeles Bible Institute, came up with members of the French family on Friday night. Helen visited with relatives at Kelsey, the rest of the party visited at Georgetown with relatives there.

Mr. and Mrs. George Horstmeier and Mrs. James Kelley of Sacramento, were guests at the Kelley home over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Becker of Oakland, parents of Mrs. Wilbur Timm, with Mrs. Orlando, sister of Mrs. Becker, and husband, were guests of the Timms for several days last week.

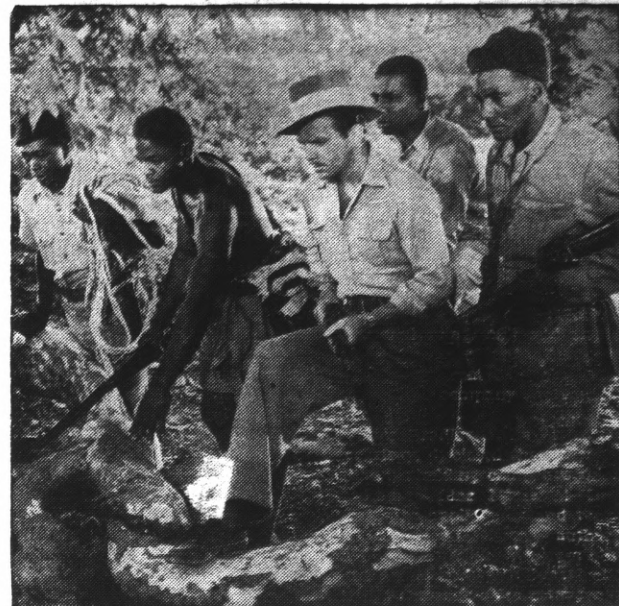

Guests at the Holt home were Mrs. A. Smith and daughter and Miss Virginia Hayes, of Camino.

Miss Josie Laumann of the teaching staff at Long Beach for several years past, has spent the remaining days of her vacation with her aunt, Mrs. Bessie Smith and Tom Smith, of Kelsey, as well as with her brother of Placerville.

The late meeting of the Woman's Club of Kelsey met at the home of Mrs. Eta Moody. After business the members worked on dresses for the Red Cross. Being a warm day the members enjoyed delicious ice cold watermelon with other refreshments accompanying. After which everyone wandered through the extensive and beautiful flower garden, with possibly the greatest variety of flowering plants to be found on the north side.

Recently a poster was placed on the bulletin board at the Kelsey postoffice with the British flag gaily displayed at the top, as these posters have been displayed elsewhere. Considerable comment was caused among the citizens, and overseas veterans but no one did anything about it. It remained for a woman born in Peru, Miss Naomi Benedetti, educated in the cities of Paris, Labou, Madrid, Rome and Berlin, where her father was in the diplomatic service. Miss Benedetti very recently passed the examination for her final citizenship papers in our superior court. When she spied the said flag she returned to her home, made an American flag and with hammer and tacks placed the American flag above the British emblem while the men cheered her to the echo.

Vernon Tull, Orland, Glenn county, has been appointed manager of the Butte county fair to be held September 12-15 in Gridley.

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS, JR., is the big game hunter in "Safari," which shares the Empire Theater screen with "Zanzibar," for a two-day engagement closing Saturday night.

ADVENTURE IN AFRICA IN TWO EMPIRE PICTURES

A skillfully contrived story, expertly directed and brilliantly enacted by a splendid cast, makes "Safari," the Paramount drama which stars Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and Madeline Carroll, and which is being shown Friday and Saturday at the Empire Theatre, an outstanding screen effort. Having for its principal locale a West African jungle, it offers a deft combination of romance, adventure and comedy.

The story has to do with a safari planned by a wealthy Baron, Tullio Carminati, who arrives on his yacht in M'Pola, with Madeline Carroll and Muriel Angelus as his guests. Madeline is determined to marry Carminati and welcomes the opportunity to arouse his jealousy by becoming deeply interested in Fairbanks, a big game hunter Carminati has hired to lead the expedition.

On a lion hunt Carminati intentionally wounds a lion and suggests that Fairbanks make the kill single handed. Fairbanks emerges with a torn arm, disbands the camp, and returns to M'Pola after angrily tongue-lashing both Madeline and Carminati. He plans flying to Europe and the war. In a series of tensely dramatic scenes, the picture is brought to an unexpected but wholly believable conclusion.

A fantastic and little known provision of the Versailles Treaty is the basis for "Zanzibar," the second picture on the bill with Lola Lane, James Craig and Eduardo Cinielli in feature roles.

Lifted intact from the world famous document, the provision commanded that the sacred skull of an African Sultan which was removed from German East Africa be turned over to the British Government.

William Dooley of Hughson, has purchased a ten-acre ranch near Turlock, Stanislaus county.

PANAMA DEFENSE AREA INCLUDES AIR BASES ON TWO OCEANS

WASHINGTON, (UP)—The United States sought today to establish a "critical defense area" with a radius of 1,500 miles around the Panama Canal.

Experts said successful completion of negotiations for bases on the Pacific side of the canal and construction of the eight new Atlantic bases on sites leased to this country by Great Britain would make such an area a reality.

Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox has revealed that this country is seeking to balance its new bases in the Atlantic with two more in the Pacific—the Cocos and Galapagos Islands. The Cocos Islands belong to Costa Rica and are about 600 miles northwest of the canal; the Galapagos belong to Ecuador and are about 800 miles southwest of the canal.

Experts said that acquisition of sites on those islands would expand the defensive frontier of the canal another 700 miles into the Pacific.

Buy Your Airplane On Installment Plan

SAN FRANCISCO — Because a citizen's ability to fly has become a potent factor of strength in national defense, Bank of America has inaugurated a plan to finance the individual purchase of airplanes on much the same basis as automobiles, according to announcement by L. M. Giannini, president of the bank.

Purchase of virtually all the smaller standard types of aircraft, Mr. Giannini says, now may be financed on the installment plan through any of the 495 branches of Bank of America throughout California, and with insurance protection for both purchaser and the bank.

Today's Sport Parade

By Henry McLenore
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, (UP)—"Twenty-five, twenty-six, twenty-seven," said Jack Kearns, plunking the $1,000 bills down one by one, "twenty-eight, twenty-nine, thirty."

"Bingo!" shouted an awe-stricken spectator.

Ancl Hoffman, pilot of that storm-tossed pugilistic ship named Max Baer, looked at the mess of green stuff in front of him and said: "Okay."

So the fight's on—the one between Baer and Pat Comiskey, a killer-diller puncher from Paterson, N. J. It will be 15 rounds on September 26 in the Jersey City Baseball Park. But the fact that they're going to fight is unimportant compared to what happened before, during and after Kearns laid the lettuce in front of Hoffman.

It easily was the high point of the social season in leatherist lane. The boys were tastefully attired in cauliflower ears and broken noses. The official signing took place in a Broadway night club called The Hurricane and Promoter Kearns invoked the aid of Bacchus, God of Wine, to get the festivities pitched to the proper plane. Viands were spread on long tables and despite the lack of place cards the boys boys found their seats with a minimum of confusion.

All of them, that is, except Maxie Baer who wanted to be photographed with one of the Hurricaneettes who was strolling the premises in a grass costume. The flashlights popped and a picture of Max and the Hurricaneette was imprisoned for posterity.

Then the eating began. Comiskey seemed to have a shade on the soup and salad courses, but Baer staged a great rally on the entree. The dessert course seemed to be fairly even. Throughout the repast both boys flashed nice left jabs with their forks and crossed neatly with their knives. So call it a draw and stand by for what happens next.

Up gets Promoter Kearns to make a speech. This will be a great fight he said. He said it again. And again. The cheering was terrific. All the details seemed closed.

But wait! Slowly to his feet gets Ancl Hoffman, no mean speech-maker himself.

"I have heard lots of nice talk here," he said, "but I haven't seen no money."

Commercialism had reared its ugly head in the midst of this brilliant social function. In plain words, Hoffman wanted the 30,000 bucks that Kearns had guaranteed Baer. He wanted it right now, while the toothpicks were still being passed.

The Count of Monte Cristo could not have made a more courtly gesture than Kearns unleashed when he stepped over and handed Hoffman a slip of paper. It was a check for $30,000.

Hoffman gazed at it with a detached expression on his face. He gazed at it a long time and then he spoke:

"Cash."

"What's the matter," inquired Abe Green, New Jersey boxing commissioner, "don't you think the check's any good?"

"Cash," said Hoffman.

Kearns took back the check, reached into his pocket and came out with a roll as big as a baseball bat.

"One, two, three, four . . ."

An angelic light came over Mr. Hoffman's face as he watched the green stuff fall, flutter and lie flat in front of him.

NEW OLDSMOBILE SHOWN AT CANNON'S GARAGE LATE FRIDAY

Lloyd Cannon returned from Sacramento late Friday afternoon with a new 1941 Oldsmobile, which is now on display at the Cannon Chevrolet Company's Garage. According to the dealer, this is one of the most beautiful cars made by the General Motors. A feature of this year's model is the new "Hydro Transmission."

The public is most cordially invited to preview the new 1941 car, the dealer said.

Attorney J. D. Elliot was at Sacramento on Friday.

Forest Supervisor Edwin F. Smith was in the Wright's Lake district on Friday.

The fire alarm at 5:30 o'clock Friday morning was occasioned by a grass fire near the grammar school in Uppertown.

PRIMARY ELECTION LAW PRODUCES PECULIAR SITUATIONS

ured in a "purge" campaign and barely won his democratic nomination in the primary.

It is unlikely that any concerted campaign for a change in the law will come from the legislature because all the advantage rests with the candidate. If he can win both nominations at the primary, he saves the expense of another election.

The chief criticism comes where a candidate wins several nominations at the primary and the voters of other parties have no choice in the general election other than the representative of a rival party. This cross-filing has come to the point where it is difficult to tell in which party a candidate is registered. It is particularly effective for incumbents, whose names generally are better known.

After the law became effective during the days of Governor Hiram Johnson, the republican party was so preponderant that it meant little to win the democratic nomination. Now the democratic party has increased to an approximate 5 to 3 majority and the problem of cross-filing is acute.

Governor Olson has made bitter attacks on the system, which was chiefly responsible for so many anti-Olson candidates being elected in the primary. He declared it "has just about accomplished the ruin of the two major parties as effective instruments of effective democratic government."

Olson summed up his arguments against the primary law as follows:

1. It confuses and misleads the voters.
2. It defeats the purposes of partisan politics.
3. Cross filing defeats the purposes of citizens who believe that political parties should be responsible organizations.
4. Makes it all the easier for special privileged interests to influence and control election results.

The outcome of the several assembly and senate contests in November will have some bearing on Governor Olson's "purge" but the quirks of the law contributed some unusual situations.

Farm Advisor I. W. Lilley returned Thursday evening from the state 4-H Club convention at Davis.
